When objects in a subsystem interact, they often become tightly bound.

Mediator lets you separate out the coordination behavior to one location.