

Gameplay

Is the purpose of this game to form new molecules? Or make a molecule “fit” into something?

Can the player modify the kinetic energy (by increasing or decreasing it) to achieve the goal?

Domain

What are some examples of simple molecules? How would they behave?

Where would you recommend we find information about vibrations, molecule shape, and kinetic energy?